

How the Expect Respect Project works

1 Mind Mapping connects thoughts, Bellevue Heights PS, Year 3, 2023

2 Poster art, St Francis de Sales College, Year 5, 2021

4 Calendars and a typical months message, various years

There are five steps to doing the Expect Respect Project

- 1 Educate
Children in middle Primary School are introduced to the concepts of respect and tolerance by their teachers. Professionals in the field of law enforcement and social behaviour training, including SAPOL, provide explicit learning experiences for the students over a term.
- 2 Create
The children use art to create posters which show what they have learnt.
- 3 Share with Community
All completed art is displayed in a public exhibition. This promotes the messages of respect and provides an insight into what our young people are thinking and feeling about issues such as bullying and tolerance.
- 4 Make
The children's artwork is used to create a calendar which each student takes home. Each month includes a different reflecting the learning focus of the year.
- 5 Celebrate
Finally, a public event is held with community leaders, parents/caregivers and the community. The students receive recognition for their work and celebrate the launch of the calendars. This event is often attended by White Ribbon Ambassadors who provide age appropriate information. At this event, the students see that what they have learnt over their school year is important and matters deeply to the whole community.

3 Part of a 120 poster display, Mount Barker Library, 2018

Guests at the Community Event, Mount Barker Library, 2017

5 Local Media records the Community Event, Courier Mail, 2016